Health Care Retreat at Knowles Mercy Center

Skills of Compassionate Care: Taking Care of Ourselves While We Care for Others.

Wednesday, April 14, 2010 from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Cost: $40.00/renewal day includes continental breakfast & lunch
CEU'S (Continuing education credit provided by Iowa Western Iowa Board of Nursing Provider # 6.) 8 Continuing Education Credits are available for Health Care Professionals at an additional charge of $10.00.

Come to "a place apart" for a day of renewal.

Knowles Mercy Center, in partnership with Compassionate Care Hospice of Nebraska, is offering health care renewal days for caregivers, Stephen Ministers, health ministers, nurses, social workers, physicians, and nursing assistants. Anyone in health care ministries, whether in paid positions or as a volunteer, is invited to participate in a day of renewal.

The health care renewal days will review the two keys of compassionate care as developed by Patrick Davis, MA, an experienced retreat leader, hospice chaplain, educator, healer, and life coach. The first skill focuses on being a healing presence using the art of touch. The second skill focuses on proven methods for busy people to practice self care. This day is designed to encourage caregivers to care for themselves and to slow down and be present in the midst of a busy life.

Patrick Davis has over 20 years experience facilitating renewal programs for volunteers and health care professionals of all types. Patrick holds a Masters in Adult Education and holds certifications in both bodywork and life coaching. Patrick has a private bodywork practice sharing a natural system of pain and stress management called Bowen Therapy. He also teaches human relations skills in colleges and for organizations of all types. Patrick works part-time for Compassionate Care Hospice of Nebraska facilitating spiritual care and community outreach. He is a phone call away if you have any questions or needs for the caregivers in your life: 402.933.9393.
